Pharmacy College Transfers To UK

Other Changes Are Announced

A seventh college of instruction becomes affiliated with the University June 30 as the Louisville college of pharmacy officially transfers its operations to the jurisdiction of UK. Although the school will continue to operate in Louisville until all students now enrolled have completed their work, freshmen students planning to major in pharmacy will do the non-professional part of their study on the Lexington campus beginning next fall.

Dr. Sloane Becomes Dean

With Dr. Earl P. Sloane as dean, the college of pharmacy will be of "equal rank and dignity" with the University's six other colleges and graduate school. A building to house the college when it completes transfer of all its operations to Lexington will be provided on the UK campus as soon as possible, University officials have announced.

Other changes include the retirement to change of work status of two deans and two veteran professors with combined service to the University totaling 130 years.

Dr. T. T. Jones, dean of men since 1933 and a member of the staff for 45 years, and Dr. Paul P. Boyd, dean of the college of arts and sciences, were retired last month.

Professorships vacated officially include those of Dr. M. E. Ligon, director of teacher placement in the college of education, and Dr. William L. Roberts, professor of law. Dr. Ligon joined the University faculty in 1924 and Dr. Roberts in 1920.

WBKY Adopts New Schedule Station Broadcasts Five Nights Weekly

The University radio studios and the frequency modulation station WBKY has adopted a new schedule of operation calling for two hours of broadcasting each week day evening during the months of July and August, Elmer G. Sulzer, director of University radio activities, has announced.

Effective June 30, broadcasts are being made five nights a week Monday through Friday, instead of the usual three at the same times of 7 to 9 p.m.

Sulzer said that WBKY would increase its power to 1,000 watts and be heard on the new frequency of 91.3 megacycles as soon as operational tests are completed. No definite date has been set for the changeover, authorized last winter by the FCC.

Associate Professor To Be Moderator Of UK Roundtable

Elvis J. Stahr, Jr., Rhodes scholar graduate of the University and now associate professor of Law, will serve as new moderator of the University roundtable presented over WHAS each Sunday, Elmer G. Sulzer, University director of radio activities, announced.

The roundtable takes up current topics, problems and questions of widespread interest. Guests participate in discussions on subjects of world, state and community interest under the leadership of the moderator. The program originates in the University Radio Studios in McVey hall and is aired over WHAS, from 8:30 to 9 a.m. Sunday.

Prof. Stahr's professional and undergraduate experience particularly fit him for the job of leading objective discussions, Sulzer said, since he has been a scholar, soldier and lawyer. A native of Hickman, Ky., he graduated from the University "with high distinction."

Studied At Oxford

Following his graduation, he studied at Oxford, Merton College 1936-39 and received the Bachelor of Arts in Jurisprudence and Bachelor of Civil Law degrees from that institution. He later received the Master of Arts degree from Oxford.

Professionally, Stahr has been associated with a Wall Street law firm in New York. As a practicing lawyer, he was a member of the New York Bar, Bar of the U.S. District Court, U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, and American Bar Association. His war service included more than four years active duty in the Army.

A Kentucky colonel and distinguished graduate of the University, he was elected president last winter to the UK Alumni Club of Greater New York and served until he was appointed in the College of Law.

College Trigg Resigns Directorship Of Cafeteria

Accepts Position At Valparaiso University

Miss Jennie Mae Trigg, director of the Student Union cafeteria, has accepted a position at Valparaiso University, Valparaiso, Ind. Her resignation as Union cafeteria director becomes effective August 1.

Miss Trigg, who has been at the University for five and a half years, will be director of food service at Valparaiso.

Before coming here, Miss Trigg received her B.S. in home economics from the University in 1939, successively was employed as home economics teacher at Newport, Ky.; assistant dietitian at Eastern State Teachers College, and was food trainee for Colonnade restaurants in Pittsburgh, Pa. She came to the University as assistant director of the cafeteria and became the director after six months service.

"I think we've made a lot of improvements in our cafeteria," Miss Trigg stated. The Student Union cafeteria is now feeding more people than ever before. Miss Trigg said that they are now serving about 2500 meals daily. During the war, she said they served 1250 army boys three times a day in addition to others.

Miss Trigg expressed appreciation for the "splendid cooperation from the president and comptroller."

Summer Enrollment Tabulation Released By Personnel Office

Sixty-seven per cent of University's summer student body of 3,879 is accounted for by veterans, the University personnel office reported last week in a tabulation of student veterans registered for the first term of the summer quarter.

The total veteran enrollment of 2,591, more than 14 per cent greater than the number of student veterans in school for a similar period last summer, is predominantly Kentuckian, according to the report which shows 2,264 listing residences in this state as compared to 324 from all other states.

Slightly more than 42 per cent of the 2,541 men and 50 women veterans are married. Thirty-seven per cent, 403, of the 1,091 married veterans reported they have children, who total 509.

New students account for 161 of the total number of veterans, and re-entering students make up 170. The remainder are those continuing their education uninterrupted. 125 of the veterans are not enrolled under the "G. I. Bill," the report states, but are paying their own way. The largest percentage of the current veteran enrollment is sophomores with a total of 856 of that class comprising 33 per cent of the combined figure for all classifications. Junior students are the next most numerous with seniors, freshmen and graduate students following in that order.

College totals are as follows: Arts and Sciences, 497; Engineering, 613; Commerce, 497; Agriculture, 308; Law, 171; and Education, 68. The graduate school has an enrollment of 325 veterans.

Reinstatement Due On GI Insurance

One month remains for reinstatement of insurance without a physical examination, according to Veterans Administration officials.

Two monthly premiums will have to be paid to reinstate G.I. term insurance by August 1. No examination is required.

G.I. Insurance may be reinstated in amounts ranging from $1,000 to $10,000 and premium rates are the same as those paid in the service.

Metal Bleachers To Boost Stadium Seating To 30,000

Semi-permanent metal bleachers now being erected at McLean stadium will throw open an additional 10,000 seats to thousands of Kentucky gridiron fans by next fall, increasing the total seating capacity from 18,800 to nearly 30,000.

E. B. Paris, University chief engineer, stated that four sections with a seating capacity of 1500 each and one with a seating capacity of 2000 are presently under construction by his department, and that two sections of wooden bleachers, holding from two to three thousand, would be erected by the Athletic department.

In the near future the bleachers will be replaced by permanent concrete stands, and the present stands will be enlarged until the stadium eventually assumes the shape of a bowl.

Dr. Faust

Faust Named New Director Of Freshmen

Succeeds Stokes; Post Effective In September

Dr. George P. Faust has been named to the post of Freshman Director, effective in September, succeeding Professor S. J. Stokes, whose resignation became effective July 1, according to Dr. George K. Brady, acting head of the English department.

Dr. Faust comes to the University from Howard college in Birmingham, Ala., where he has been serving as assistant and associate professor since 1943. He received his B. A. degree at Princeton in 1925, and became a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honor society. He attended Oxford University from 1927 to 1928, returned to Princeton to receive his PhD in 1932, and began work there as an instructor.

Leaving Princeton in 1934, Dr. Faust then taught at Duquesne University until 1937 when he accepted the assistant and associate professorship at Knox college. In 1941 he went to the University of Michigan as an instructor where he remained until 1943.

He is a member of the Modern Languages association and the American Association of University Professors. Several of his articles concerned with literature and English have been published along with "The Shorter Scientific Papers of Lee Barker Walton, PhD," of which he was editor.

Ellison Participates In Radio Program

As a part of the nation-wide Independence Day program, two officers of the University took part in a program planned by the Army Ground Forces.

Col. G. T. MacKenzie, head of the department, supervised the presentation of a two-man skit depicting the origin and celebration of Independence Day over WLAP last Friday. Relations officer, spoke over the University radio station, WBKY, on Thursday evening explaining the origin of the declaration of Independence and why the Fourth is celebrated.

UK Students Sail From New York

Barbara J. Allen and Melrose McGurk sailed from New York Monday, June 30, to attend a Girl Scout international folk song and dance festival in Westminster, England. The students, along with five other girls from Kentucky, will represent the United States at the festival and visit camps of Girl Guides of Great Britain in England, Scotland, Wales, and North Ireland. They will teach the Girl Guides songs and folk dances of the United States, exchange camping skills and program ideas, and generally share in building a better understanding among young people of all nations.

Radio Club To Hear Prof. Carley's Talk

The University amateur radio club will meet Wednesday, July 16, at 4 p.m. in room 232 of the engineering quadrangle. A lecture-demonstration on the rotary beam antenna will be given by William S. Carley, professor of electrical engineering at North Carolina State. Professor Carley, a graduate of UK in EE, has a working model of the rotary beam antenna which he will operate during the course of his lecture.

All persons interested are cordially invited to attend, especially ham operators.

Temporary Cafeteria Going Up

Surplus Building To Be Ready In September

A cafeteria with a seating capacity of 600 is being erected near the south exit of the main campus drive.

One of the semi-permanent buildings acquired from army surplus by the University, the cafeteria measures 510x137 feet. It will be located on the site on an old limestone sink that has been filled with 10,000 cubic yards of dirt from the fieldhouse excavation. The old sink hole is being silled at present.

The new cafeteria will not be under the direction of the Student Union cafeteria dietitian. The dietitian for the new cafeteria will probably be appointed when Miss Jennie Trigg's successor as Union director is named. Frank D. Peterson, University comptroller stated, Miss Trigg's successor becomes effective August 1.

The temporary structure will be ready for use when school begins next September, Mr. Peterson said. It is hoped that it will relieve the big cafeteria and reduce the time spent by cafeteria patrons standing in line. It will continue in operation until the boys' dormitory to be built on Rose street is completed. It will have a cafeteria in it, and will be ready for use in about two years, according to Mr. Peterson.

University To Accept More New Students In Fall Quarter

Next fall the University will be in a better position to accept new students from all parts of the state, according to Dr. Maurice F. Seay, dean and registrar, in answer to queries about the possibilities of the University admitting new students.

Dean Seay says that the housing problem on campus is improving and there are still some rooms available in the dormitories and in town. Both temporary and permanent buildings are under construction in preparation for an enrollment estimated in predictions at between 7,000 and 8,000.

In a letter to high school administrators, Dean Seay said the University wanted to cooperate with them in helping high school graduates continue their preparation for leadership in Kentucky and the United States.

Audio-Visual Course Being Offered Here

Educators from Florida, North Carolina, and 35 Kentucky counties attending the College of Education, began a two and a half week course in Audio-Visual teaching July 7, according to Lyman C. Ginger, director of University High School.

Several outstanding exponents of audio-visual teaching will head the course, including Don Williams of Indiana University, Audio-Visual Workshop, and Floyd E. Brooker, of the U. S. Office of Education, Washington.

Coaches From 11 States To Attend Clinic Here

Coaches from eleven states including Kentucky will be on the campus next week for the second annual basketball and football coaching clinic scheduled for July 4-19.

The clinic, sponsored by the Kentucky Athletic Association, is absolutely free to all coaches desiring to attend. However, the main function of the clinic is to stimulate interest in the two sports in the Commonwealth and to build-up the caliber of high school ball played in the state.

Approximately 200 high school and college coaches are expected to sign up before the opening lecture Monday morning. Enrollment for last year's clinic tallied close to the 200 mark, and this year's final figure is expected to pass it.

Four of the nation's outstanding coaches have been secured to teach the clinic including Wildcat mentors Adolph Rupp and Paul Bryant. The lectures will include outlines of defenses and offenses of the winning systems employed by the coaches, along with movies and demonstrations of how it's done. Discussion and question periods will follow all lectures.

Neeley To Teach

On hand to help Kentucky's fast climbing grid coach, Paul Bryant will be Jess Neeley of Rice Institute. Neeley's Texas Owls clinched last season with a close 8-0 victory over the Tennessee Volunteers in the Orange Bowl.

Jess came to Houston in 1940 with a brand new five-year contract that still is running. In his first three seasons at Rice, the Owls won 20, lost eight, and tied two. It has been said by Rice opponents, that the Owls can always be counted on for a tough fight, for although they

Dean Taylor Up For NEA Presidency

Election To Be At Convention In Cincinnati

Dr. William S. Taylor, dean of the University College of Education, was one of the leading candidates for the presidency of the National Education Association, which opened its week-long annual delegate assembly convention last Monday in Cincinnati.

Selection of the president will be made by delegates to the convention. Only announced candidates are Dean Taylor; Dr. Leonard Bowman, vice-principal of the Santa Barbara high school; and Dr. Glenn Snow, president of Dixie Junior college, St. George, Utah. All are present members of the N.E.A. executive committee.

Dr. Taylor has not presented a platform at any time during his campaign, but supporters indicate he is strongly in favor of at least $2,400 a year minimum salary for a professionally trained teacher holding a baccalaureate degree, federal aid for education, and more adequate programs of public education and other desirable public services where needed.

The Kentucky educator's candidacy already has been endorsed by the Kentucky Education Association, boards of directors of the 11 district associations of the K.E.A., all local educational associations throughout the state, the state board of directors of the Department of Classroom Teachers of the K.E.A., and by numerous other educational groups.

As dean of the University and the college of education, Dr. Taylor has supervised not only the educational courses at the University but also the Training school, which embraces all grades from kindergarten through high school. His influence has also extended to the state teachers' colleges in Kentucky and through his numerous published works, many of which have gained national recognition, and activities to schools throughout the nation.

Dean Taylor has been an active member of the national association for more than 30 years, serving in such capacities as a member of the board of directors, resolutions

Dean White's Offices Moved; Sayre Dorm To House 70

Chi O Women Will Occupy Elmside

A contract was approved Tuesday by Attorney General Elden S. Dummitt to permit the University to house 70 women students in the Sayre school dormitory this fall, Frank D. Peterson, University comptroller, announced.

The dormitory became available when school trustees voted recently to discontinue senior high school. The school does not use dormitory space for elementary students, but will continue to board a number of junior high school pupils.

Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, dean of women, said that the Sayre dormitory will be used to house senior, junior, and sophomore women, but that freshmen women will be housed in Patterson hall and in two temporary buildings near the hall.

Mrs. Holmes said that Elmside, 203 East Fourth street, which has been leased by the University for the past two years, will be occupied during the next school year by Chi Omega sorority. It formerly was used by the University for women who could not find rooms in regular dormitories.

Mr. Peterson said that the attorney general also approved a contract between the University and Johnson for work on several temporary buildings which are being erected at the University.

Dean Horlacher

Alpha Tau Omega Presents Horlacher With Service Award

L. J. Horlacher, Assistant Dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, has been honored by the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity for his 25 years of association with the Fraternity, Dean Horlacher, who was initiated in Kentucky's Mu Iota Chapter in 1921 after graduation from Kansas State College, was the recipient of the Silver Certificate Award, symbolic of a quarter-century of service with ATO. Presentation of the testimonial was made by Prof. L. E. "Butch" Nollau, the Fraternity's faculty advisor.

According to an announcement from second army headquarters, he said, applicants must be honor students academically in their institution and also a graduate of the ROTC program. The students will be honorably certified by the head of the college or university, and the professor of military science and tactics must certify to their qualities of leadership, character, and aptitude for military service. Army commanders will further screen all applicants before recommending their appointment to the war department.

Col. MacKenzie said the University's first honor ROTC graduate would be recommended sometime following the end of next fall quarter. No definite quotas have been established, but the requirement that the student be graduated with honors will tend to limit selection, he explained.

Tour Of Bluegrass Attracts 60 Students

A bluegrass tour, sponsored by the Student Union, attracted 60 students Wednesday afternoon.

Free to all students, the tour was made in chartered busses.

Keeneland track, Calumet, Dixiana, Elmendorf and other horse farms were visited.

'60 Per Cent Of Marriages To Fail,' Says Dr. Adams

Unless the trend is changed by some factors not now exerting influence, 60 per cent of all marriages will be ending in separation or divorce by 1965, Dr. Clifford R. Adams, psychologist and widely recognized marital counselor, warned Tuesday night in an address before delegates to an Institute on Family Life at the University.

In support of his contention, Dr. Adams cited statistics that 1946 was "the biggest marriage year in the history of our country with 2,314,000 marriages. It was also the largest divorce year since about 620,000 obtained decrees separating them from their mates. The ratio of one divorce to every three marriages is much more than that of 80 years ago—three divorces to 100 marriages.

"The marriage rate is going down to near the normal of 600,000 a year

Proficiency Exams This Afternoon

Proficiency examinations for foreign languages will be given today at 2 p.m. in room 109, McVey hall, Dr. M. M. White, chairman of the proficiency examination committee, stated.

Honor Graduates May Now Seek RA Commissions

Honor students of the University and other universities may now apply for direct commissions in the regular army. Col. G. T. MacKenzie, professor of military science and tactics at UK said last week.

The plan allowing qualified students to seek such commissions is part of a broad war department program which provides also for the commissioning directly in the regular army of qualified specialists in civilian fields. Col. MacKenzie, army public relations officer for this area, explained.

According to an announcement from second army headquarters, he said, applicants must be honor students academically in their institution and also a graduate of the ROTC program. The students will be honorably certified by the head of the college or university, and the professor of military science and tactics must certify to their qualities of leadership, character, and aptitude for military service. Army commanders will further screen all applicants before recommending their appointment to the war department.

Col. MacKenzie said the University's first honor ROTC graduate would be recommended sometime following the end of next fall quarter. No definite quotas have been established, but the requirement that the student be graduated with honors will tend to limit selection, he explained.

Photographic Display, 'The Medieval World,' Being Shown Here

"The Medieval World" a photographic exhibition prepared by the editors of "Life" is being shown under the auspices of the Art department. The exhibit began on July 1, and will continue through July 28.

"The Medieval World" is made up of photographs which were published as a two-part pictorial essay in the April 7th and May 26th issues of "Life", and also includes many pictures that had to be omitted from the magazine for lack of space.

Twenty-four panels, each containing from one to six photographs and captions, delineate the roles of the church, the town, and the castle in the day-to-day life of medieval man. The section devoted to the church reflects the medieval spirit in a sequence of panels which include the cathedral of Chartres, the Abbey church at Vézelay, Pains de Suave, sculptural details and color reproductions of stained glass from Bourges and Chartres.

The second division of the exhibition treats town life, late in the middle ages. Here are seen engravings of nameless streets and street scenes as well as such centers of medieval life as Nuremberg, Dinkelsbühl, Constance, Carcassonne and Avignon.

Feudal life, centering around the lord's castle, is portrayed in the third division. Color reproductions from the May 26th issue of "Life" include the Unicorn Hunt tapestry (now in The Cloisters, Metropolitan Museum of Art), and also Life in the Manor (from a 15th century Flemish manuscript in the Morgan Library). There are also panels illustrating a tournament and the Crusades. Of the 35 photographs in this portion of the exhibition, 24 tell the story of customs and courtesies of castle life, while the others reveal the interiors and outside walls of medieval castles still standing today.

Present Location In South Wing Of McVey Hall

The offices of the dean of the college of arts and sciences are now located on the first floor of the south wing of McVey hall. Dr. M. M. White, new arts and sciences dean, said that there is now no associate dean and there is only one office. Formerly the head dean's office was located in the Administration building and the associate dean's office was in Neville hall.

University Vice-president Leo M. Chamberlain will move into the old arts and sciences dean's offices and Dr. Maurice F. Seay, dean of the University, will take the offices now occupied by Dr. Chamberlain.

The moves were necessitated because the newly created office of vice-president made the opening of a new office necessary.

While the arts and sciences offices have moved, there is still work yet to be done on the offices, and workmen are also still busy preparing Dr. Chamberlain's new office. Their move has been tentatively set for next week, but the work must be completed and all new office furniture installed before it will be possible.

Parking Rules Remain Same

The same parking regulations of last quarter will remain in effect during this summer term, according to A. D. Kilwan, dean of men.

These same permits will be required after 7 o'clock a.m. until 6 o'clock p.m. and a fine will be entailed for each offense against these rules.

The rules are as follows:
1. The car must be restricted to the area to which it has been assigned.
2. Yellow lines are provided for each space and the car must be within the lines.
3. All red lines must be avoided.
4. Traffic and entrance ways must not be blocked.
New permits will be issued only to those persons who are physically handicapped, who commute each day and to the men living in dormitories and stadium barracks because of limited space.

Women Should Enroll For Tennis Tourney

All women students interested in participating in a women's tennis tournament are requested to enroll at the physical education department in the women's gymnasium. Both single and double matches will be scheduled, and there will be no entry fee. The date for the meet will be announced later.

Establishment of agencies to solve marital problems. One of the most needed laws to aid prospective married couples in intelligently beginning a life partnership is a uniform waiting period federal law, he stressed. "Many states have laws requiring a couple to wait varying amounts of time before a license to marry is issued and other states have no such laws at all. It is my sincere belief that

Record Expansion Program Progressing At Rapid Pace

The University campus is fast becoming a "sidewalk superintendent's" paradise during the current summer months as the most extensive temporary and permanent physical plant expansion program in the 80-year history of the state university develops from the blueprint stage to practical form.

Visitors to the campus and members of the faculty, staff and student body daily pause curiously to watch virtually every imaginable type of construction equipment and hundreds of workmen engaged in the record building program designed to aid the University in caring for a record-smashing enrollment next fall.

Because of lack of time and sufficient state funds, most of the post-war expansion undertaken by the University to date has been of a temporary nature. Frank D. Peterson, UK controller who oversees operation of the physical plant, explains. However, long-range planning has been allowed the beginning of more than $4,700,000 in new buildings and additions to present structures.

New Buildings Planned
In accordance with the announced plan for UK President Herman L. Donovan to ask the next state legislature for a $10,000,000 appropriation to be used in the construction of critically-needed dormitories, classrooms and laboratories, plans are being prepared or already completed for at least eight more permanent buildings to cost an estimated $7,500,000 in round figures.

Dr. Donovan has outlined other needs of the University, not already being planned, as including apartment houses for married veterans, an infirmary, athlete's dormitory, an addition to double the size of the present library, and a new college of commerce building.

Nearing completion at the present time is the first permanent-type building started since the war ended—residence hall for men with facilities for 108 and costing approximately $415,000. Ground for the dormitory was officially broken April 25 last year and it is hoped to put the housing unit into at least partial operation by the opening of fall quarter in September, according to UK Chief Engineer E. B. Parris.

A $2,600,000 memorial auditorium-fieldhouse, designed for joint use as an assembly center and athletic colosseum, has been under construction for approximately three months and completion is set for December, 1949.

University trustees also have approved the beginning of a new $1,376,306 fine arts classroom building on a site north of the President's residence to house offices and classes of the departments of music, art and Guignol theater. Other projects for which contracts have been awarded by the board of trustees include a new $132,967 dairy center, and a new animal pathology hospital and addition to the animal pathology building at a cost of $199,000.

Still in the blueprint stage pending receipt of sufficient funds from the state are another new men's residence hall to house 365 students, provide food facilities for 1,200, and cost approximately $1,500,000. Plans are to locate the structure on the east side of Rose street south of the aeronautical laboratory.

Women's Domes to Accommodate 812
Three new women's dormitories are planned to provide accommodations for a total of 812 girls at a combined cost of approximately $2,025,000. Plans and specifications are complete on a hall to house 264 and provide food facilities for 600 which will face Harrison avenue east of Boyd hall for women. Plans are in preparation for another hall north of Patterson hall for women to house 296 girls, and another on Euclid avenue occupying the old art center site that will house 252 women.

Preliminary plans and programming has been started on a new science building or buildings that will be located north of the present mens dormitories on the present tennis courts. The courts will be relocated before construction begins. This building will cost an estimated $1,750,000 according to present plans.

Temporary Quarters Provided
In the temporary classification on the University expansion program are former army barracks and similar buildings obtained from federal agencies and converted into classrooms, laboratories, housing and storage space. Congress has provided much of the money necessary to dismatle, transfer, and re-erect the surplus buildings at the University as a supplement to government aid to student veterans.

Typical of the temporary quarters being readied for the large enrollment expected in the fall are five army surplus buildings authorized for UK by the U. S. Office of Education and the Federal Works Agency. Valued at more than $500,000, the buildings come from various installations in Kentucky and Illinois.

Other projects under construction or recently finished include eight 20x56 feet quonset huts obtained from the Veterans' Administration hospital in Lexington, which are used primarily for light storage space, and the last of 11 scattered units of one-story former barracks to house single veterans.

great benefit would come from a requirement of three months notice prior to marriage and six months before granting of a divorce."

An estimated 300 persons, both laymen and professionals, from throughout the state attended sessions of the three-day Institute which opened Monday afternoon with a welcoming address by Dr. H. L. Donovan, University president, and introduction of guest specialists in the field of the family by Dr. Irwin T. Sanders, UK sociologist and conference chairman.

Monday's program was devoted primarily to sectional meetings on the general topics of "The Marriage Partnership," "Parents and Children," and "Family Problems." An outstanding group of experts, members of the University staff and visiting professionals, participated in the discussions under each general topic. The sections, organized in orientation meetings ran simultaneously throughout most of the day.

President and Mrs. Donovan were hosts to the visiting Institute delegates and participants at a tea held at Maxwell Place, the president's home. A general session in Memorial Hall at 7:30 p.m. concluded Tuesday's activities of the Institute. Dr. Clifford R. Adams, professor of Psychology at Pennsylvania State College and widely recognized personnel consultant, delivered the principal address on the subject "Making Marriage Work." The meeting was open to the public.

New Cagers To Play Soon

The fifteen Wildcat basketball team working out this term in Alumni gym, under Coach Harry Lancaster, will play an intrasquad game on July 18 immediately before the East-West high school cage game. The first contest will probably get under way at 6 p.m.; the second attraction about 7 p.m. The freshman intrasquad football game will follow these two contests.

Five letters from last season's championship team plus another Kentucky All-American will be seen in action. They include Ken Rollins, Cliff Barker, Joe Holland, Jack Parkinson, Jim Jordan, and little Al Cummins. The remaining nine players are newcomers seeking a place on the 1947-48 Kentucky cagers.

In the second annual East-West

Lear Wins Paris Meet

Marvin Lear, No. 2 man on Kentucky's highly successful golf team the past spring, won the Stoner Creek Country Club Invitational golf tournament, July 5 and 6 at Paris, defeating Arthur Rogers, Richmond, in the finals of the championship flight, 5 and 4.

Lear, now a sophomore, was the city champion in 1943 before entering the air corps for a three year stint.

Struggle. Maysville's Earle Jones will pilot the East squad while Brewster McCov Turry will handle the reins of the West aggregation. Jones, after leading Maysville High to the State championship, was named Kentucky's high school basketball "coach-of-the-year".

Cage coach Adolph Rupp is expected back from Tennessee in time to guide his Wildcats in the initial fracas. He has been tutoring at a coaching school this past week.

Rain Hampers Intramural Play

The extended spring rains have again slowed up the progress of the intramural sports. Softball is just about ready to go into the elimination tourney and golf and tennis are ready for the quarter-finals.

However, postponement of the deadline dates has been necessary, and as it was still raining at press time, the definite dates had not been assigned. Intramural Director Bill McCubbin asks that all players keep in constant contact with the office and frequently check the bulletin board for revised schedules.

Already it has been necessary to eliminate a number of players in tennis and golf on double forfeits, because games were not played by the deadline date, and neither opponent filed a claim in the office for the match.

All tournaments must be finished before the last week of school, because of examinations.

Charlie Rose, a graduate student in the Law college, has recently been appointed by McCubbin as Graduate Intramural Manager to assist in running the summer tournaments.

Cats Invited To Play In Philippine Islands

Proof that Wildcat cage fame has extended abroad was evident this week, when it became known that UK had received an offer to play several exhibition games in the Philippine Islands. A leading international news syndicate reported Wednesday that the Philippine Amateur Athletic Federation was seeking the appearance of the Kentucky Wildcats and several other outstanding athletic attractions in the islands to increase interest in athletic competition in that area.

Those Athletic officials who could be reached implied that little thought had been given the invitation, which would have the Wildcats flying the Pacific to play exhibition games not only in Manila and the larger cities on Luzon, but also in the more remote southern islands.

Cage mentor, Adolph Rupp received the offer several weeks ago, but disclosed little information to his colleagues in the Athletic Department concerning dates or terms.

Rupp, now acting as an instructor in a coaching clinic in Jackson, Tennessee, could not be reached for comment. However, Athletic Director Bernie Shively stated that he felt little thought would be given the matter, as the dates for games would probably fall within the regular school year.

HALYARD'S SPORT SIDE SHOW

Featuring Today —
A Round-Up Of Items
From UK's Sports News

Since there seems to be no solution to the news print shortage, and even less to the advertising boom, in order to inform our readers we're combining a number of news items in the Side Show this week that ordinarily would warrant more detailed write-ups. So without further waste of space, here goes . . .

Students will be admitted to the Blue-White Intra-squad football game next Friday night, July 18, at 8:30 on their registration receipts. They are those little yellow slips, the only thing left you when you finish enrolling. . . . Admission to the annual East-West High School basketball game, however, will cost you. Bernie Shively, athletic director, said it would be necessary to charge everyone the standard price of $1.25 for this all-star game as it is not a direct function of the Athletic Association, but rather a part of the Coaching Clinic and requires the bringing to Lexington of players from all over the state.

Bill McCubbin, acting head of the physical education department, has announced the dates for the annual Bluegrass Tennis Tournament. . . . The tourney will start August 4. Entries will be limited to persons living within a 50-mile radius of Lexington. . . . The deadline date for entries will be July 29. . . . Fees are $1.50 per singles entry and $2.00 per doubles team. . . . There will be a Men's Open division for men any age, a Junior division for boys not yet 18 (Junior may enter both divisions), and a Mixed Open Doubles division for men and women any age. . . . Bids were due yesterday on the contract to hard surface the three tennis courts behind U-High. . . . Work is expected to begin almost immediately and be completed before been taking command of the softball games, well, wonder no more, because he's the Graduate Intramural Manager. . . . Claude Sprowls is Student Intramural Manager. . . . Sorry, Charlie, that we don't have a picture of you to run, and that "Play Ball" . . .

Cat Clippings

by Tom Diskin

It was just 20 years ago that Bernie Shively, UK's Athletic Director, came to the Blue Grass. He was graduated from the University of Illinois in the class of 1927 and joined the Wildcat's athletic department soon after. During his days at Illinois, Shively started with the football team, which was coached by the well-known Bob Zuppke. As a guard, the six-foot, five-inch Shively made Walter Camp's All-American team, about the only one in those days. He helped clear the way for Illinois' great star, Red Grange, the "Galloping Ghost," who was a touchdown threat every time he handled the pigskin. Zuppke called Shively "one of the best linemen I coached at Illinois".

This week, nine newcomers were working out for a place on the varsity basketball team. Since the Wildcat cage squad lost only four men from last season's outfit—Tingle, Davis, Parker and Brannum—only a few new hoopers will be added. One of the candidates is Will (Mickey) Smethers from Middletown, Ohio. As a junior, Smethers helped Middletown High win the State championship in 1944, which finished with a record of 24 wins and one loss. In these 25 games, "Mickey" scored 249 points, 111 of them in the '44 State tournament.

In his final year, Smethers and his school lost by two points in the finals of the Ohio State High School cage tourney. During these two years, the Middies ran up a record-smashing string of 42 consecutive wins, by stressing a tight defensive-type play. Smethers was picked in 1945 on the second team All-State team in the Associated Press poll, and also on the All-Tournament squads in his last two seasons with Middletown.

In the intrasquad football game, matching two freshmen elevens, to be played next week will be a couple of lads from Huntington W. Va. East High School. They are six-foot, four-inch Bob Koontz and 17-year-old Odgen Thomas, a quarterback. Koontz plays both halfback and end. The 18-year-old Koontz had a fine athletic record at East High. On the gridiron, he scored nine touchdowns last season, while playing end on the defensive and halfback on the offensive. He did much of the pass throw.
